

PATRICIA K. FABER

Patricia Kiley Faber is the co-owner of Aaron Faber Gallery founded in 1974. Aaron Faber specializes in 20th and 21st century jewelry and collectible watches.

She is an expert in the field of contemporary studio jewelry, most recently featured in National Jeweler, Departures magazine and the Robb Report. She has appeared on Good Day New York and FX Network.

Patricia is a Graduate Gemologist and member of the Women's Jewelry Association; the Society of North American Goldsmiths; the Art Jewelry Forum, the Fashion Group and a member of the board of the American Society of Jewelry Historians. She is a frequent lecturer on collecting contemporary jewelry and styling with jewelry for professional women.

She joined Edward Faber at Aaron Faber in 1975 to open the gallery dedicated to the presentation of contemporary studio jewelry at the then one-year old Aaron Faber and has been honored to spend the last three and a half decades representing artists who work in precious metal.
